

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

FOR IELTS SPEAKING SUCCESS

KEITH O'HARE

Helping you Become a Confident English Speaker

Many IELTS students lack confidence in their speaking skills.

The Keith Speaking Academy helps you develop your speaking skills so you can face the examiner with confidence and ace the IELTS test.

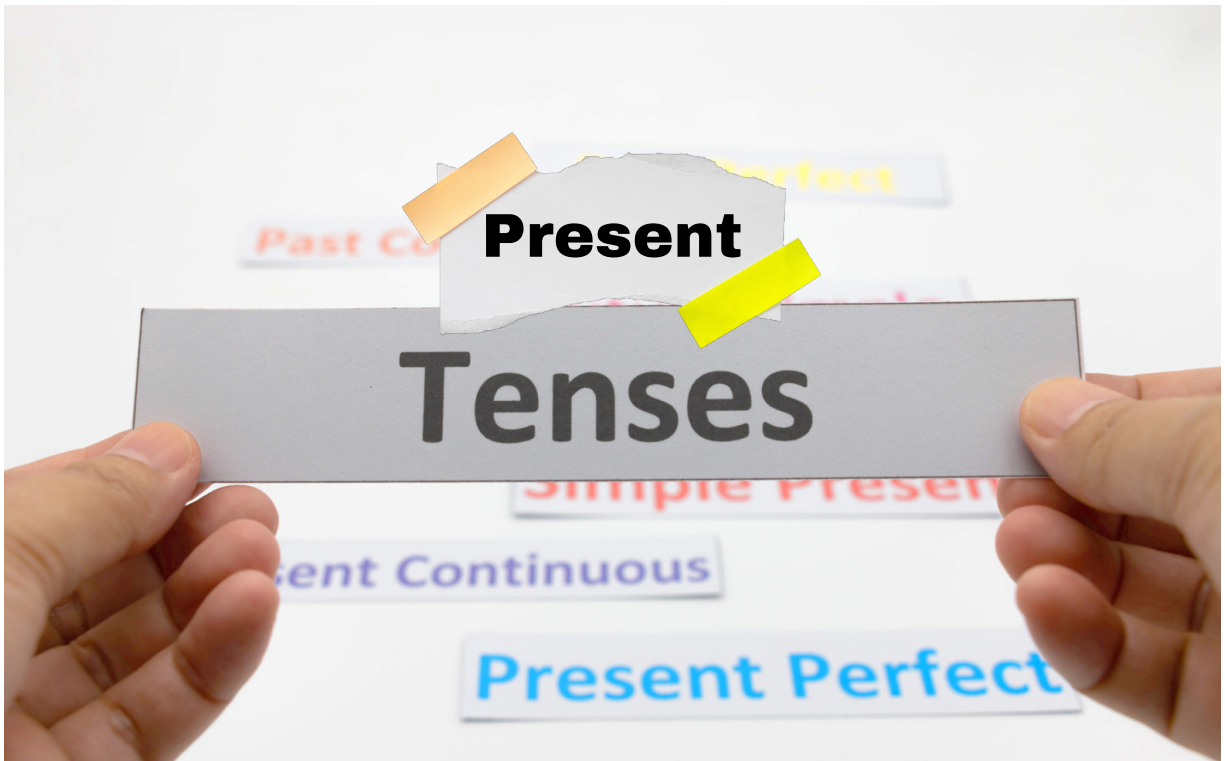

This PDF is one of many that Keith has developed to help you do this.

Keith has been working in international education for over 20 years as a teacher, teacher trainer, and education manager.

He has helped over 40,000 students prepare for their IELTS Speaking test with his online courses.

In this lesson we're diving into the world of the present perfect tense, a crucial element for achieving fluency and impressiveness in your English speaking skills. Understanding and using the present perfect tense can significantly enhance your responses in the IELTS Speaking section. Let's explore how you can master this tense and use it to your advantage.

What is the Present Perfect Tense?

The present perfect tense is a unique aspect of English that connects the past with the present. It's used to describe actions or situations that occurred at an unspecified time before now. The emphasis is on the result or effect of the action, not on when it happened.

Key Use #1: Duration of Time

This usage helps you talk about how long something has been happening. For example, "I have lived here since 2017" or "I have studied English for three years." It's perfect for answering questions about your experiences or routines.

Key Use #2: Present Results

Use this when you want to discuss the outcome of a past action that is relevant in the present. For instance, "I have broken my leg" which you may say when your leg is still in a cast.

Key Use #3: Life Experiences

This is great for sharing things you have done in your life, without specifying when. "I have visited Paris" tells us that you have the experience of visiting Paris, but the exact time of the visit is not important.

Key Use #4: Unfinished Time

This refers to actions or experiences within a time period that has not yet ended, like "I haven't seen him this morning." This would be said during the morning. It's useful for discussing recent activities or states.

Forming the Present Perfect Tense

To form the present perfect tense, you use the subject (I, you, we, they) plus "have," or (he, she, it) plus "has," followed by the past participle of the verb.

For example, "I have traveled," "She has studied."

Tips for IELTS Speaking

- Emphasise Duration: When talking about your experiences or how long you've been doing something, use the present perfect to highlight the duration. It shows a continuous connection from the past to the present.
- Highlight Recent Changes or Results: Use the present perfect to discuss recent changes or the current state resulting from past actions. This can be particularly useful in Part 3 of the IELTS Speaking test, where you might discuss changes or developments in your country or field of study.
- Share Your Experiences: The IELTS Speaking test often asks about your experiences. Use the present perfect to talk about things you have done, places you have visited, or achievements you're proud of.
- Discuss Ongoing Situations: If you're talking about something that started in the past but is still happening, the present perfect can be your best friend. It helps you describe ongoing situations or habits effectively.

Practice Makes Perfect

The key to mastering the present perfect tense is practice. Try to use it in your daily conversations, especially when talking about your experiences, achievements, and changes in your life. The more you use it, the more natural it will become.

Remember, mastering English tenses, especially the present perfect, takes time and effort. But with consistent practice and application, you'll find it becoming a natural part of your spoken English, paving the way for success in your IELTS Speaking test.

I hope this guide helps you on your journey to mastering the present perfect tense. Keep practicing, and good luck!

Find out more information about IELTS Speaking here:

WWW.KEITHSPEAKINGACADEMY.COM

